WHAT UP DOE'

Detroit Change Initiative's mission is to educate people about resources available in their community, connect them to opportunities to influence changes they want to see, and create a platform that amplifies the people's voice for collective change. We collaborate with several local and national organizations that are non-partisan, pro-voter community.

HIP HOP CAUCUS

20 years ago, we held the very first Hip Hop Caucus at Howard University, bringing together groups that were using cultural power to bring in voters who the political class typically ignores.

Hip Hop Caucus was created to build Black and Brown political power for the long term— and that’s exactly what we’ve done over the past two decades.

Just as Hip Hop culture highlights injustices happening in our communities and speaks truth to power, Hip Hop Caucus continues to build up resilience in our communities, by providing the tools needed for our liberation.
